DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

1. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

2. Claim 1-3 and 16-18 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Gao (US Pub. 2003/0076793) in view of Sawyer et al. (US 6,539,004).

Regarding claim 1 and 16, Gao teaches a method for synchronizing transmission/reception time for delay in transmission/reception of a data frame of a digital voice signal in a mobile communication system which includes a media gateway 26 and a base station controller 22, the media gateway including a trans-coder 32 for converting an analog voice signal and a coded digital voice signal into each other, the base station controller transmitting/receiving the digital voice signal to/from the media gateway (Figure 2), the method comprising: transmitting reverse data frames of the digital voice signal, which is received from the mobile station, from the base station controller to the media gateway [0019]; transmitting forward data frames from the media gateway to the base station controller when the media gateway receives forward data frames of voice signals from a called party [0019]. Gao, however, does not teach explicitly transmitting information of a forward delay from the base station controller to the media gateway and transmitting information of a reverse delay from the media gateway to the base station controller and receiving the information of the forward delay and the reverse delay and performing a control for the synchronization in the base station controller and the media gateway, respectively. Sawyer teaches transmitting information of delay (PATE in Figure 3 and also see Column 3 Line 29-30) and performing a control for the synchronization (Column 3 Line 30-31). It would have been obvious to one skilled in the art to modify Gao to transmit information of delay and perform a control for the synchronization as taught by Sawyer in order to transmit the packets at the correct real time (Abstract).

Regarding claim 2, 3, 17 and 18, Sawyer teaches delay (PATE in Figure 3) is set as a difference value which is calculated using an expected arrival time and an actual arrival time of the data frames of the digital voice signal received (Column 3 Line 25-29).

Allowable Subject Matter

3. Claim 4-15 are allowed.
4. Claim 19-28 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Response to Arguments

5. Applicant's arguments with respect to claim 1-28 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.
